

Dividend Strength Portfolio, Series 6

Investment Objective

The Dividend Strength Portfolio, Series 6 ("Trust") seeks to provide dividend income potential coupled with the potential for long-term capital appreciation.

Trust Highlights

- Guggenheim Funds Distributors, Inc. (the "Sponsor") selects U.S.-traded companies that it believes should be core holdings of a well-diversified portfolio of dividend-paying equity securities and that have historically increased their dividends.
- The Sponsor believes that consistent dividends are often a good indicator of a corporation's current financial condition and furthermore, may signal management's belief in a profitable future for the corporation.
- In fact, the companies in this portfolio have increased their dividends more than 11% year over year, on average, for the last 10 years.¹

Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Investors should be aware that there is no guarantee that the issuers of the securities included in the portfolio will declare dividends in the future or that, if declared, will remain at current levels or increase over time. Making the Case for Dividend-Paying Stocks

Historically, dividends accounted for a significant portion of the domestic stock market's total return. For the 22-year period ended 12/31/10, the S&P 500 Index's total return outperformed its price return* by approximately 332%.¹ As the chart below illustrates, stocks of companies that grew their dividends outpaced the alternatives shown.

DEFINITIONS: The S&P 500 Index is a capitalization-weighted index of 500 stocks. The index is designed to measure performance of the broad domestic economy through changes in the aggregate market value of 500 stocks representing all major industries. The S&P 500 Geometric Equal-Weighted Total Return Index is an equal-weight version of the S&P 500 Index. The indexes are unmanaged and it is not possible to invest directly in the indexes.

Dividend Growers and Initiators include stocks that increased their dividend anytime in the last 12 months. Once an increase occurs, it remains classified as a grower for 12 months or until another change in dividend policy. Non Dividend-Paying Stocks are classified as such if the stock's indicated annual dividend is zero.

RISK CONSIDERATIONS As with all investments, you can lose some or all of your investment in the Trust. No assurance can be given that the Trust's investment objective will be achieved. The Trust also might not perform as well as you expect. This can happen for reasons such as these: • Securities prices can be volatile. • Due to the current state of the economy, the value of the securities held by the trust may be subject to steep declines or increased volatility due to changes in performance or perception of the issuers. Starting in December 2007, economic activity declined across all sectors of the economy, and the United States experienced increased unemployment. The economic crisis affected the global economy with European and Asian markets also suffering historic losses. Standard & Poor's Rating Services recently lowered its long-term sovereign credit rating on the United States to "AA+" from "AAA," which could lead to increased interest rates and volatility. Extraordinary steps have been taken by the governments of several leading countries to combat the economic crisis; however, the impact of these measures is not yet fully known and cannot be predicted. • Share prices or dividend rates on the securities in the Trust may decline during the life of the Trust. • The Trust invests in securities issued by mid-capitalization companies which customarily involve more investment risk than securities of large-capitalization companies. Mid-capitalization companies may have limited product lines, markets or financial resources and may be more vulnerable to adverse general market or economic developments. • The Trust invests in a U.S.-listed foreign security which presents additional risk due to such factors as adverse economic, currency, political, social or regulatory developments in a country, including government seizure of assets, excessive taxation, limitations on the use or transfer of assets, the lack of liquidity or regulatory controls with respect to certain industries or differing legal and/or accounting standards. • Inflation may lead to a decrease in the value of assets or income from investments. • The Sponsor does not actively manage the portfolio. Please see the Trust prospectus for more complete risk information.

Unit Investment Trusts ("UITs") are fixed and not actively managed. An investment in this fixed portfolio should be made with an understanding of the risks involved with owning various types of investments. Industry predictions may not materialize and securities selected for the Trust may not participate in overall industry growth, if any. Units, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original purchase price.

This UIT is part of a long-term strategy. Consult an attorney or tax advisor regarding tax consequences associated with an investment from one series to the next, if available. Investors should consult their tax advisor to determine tax consequences associated with the purchase or sale of units. Guggenheim Funds Distributors, Inc. does not offer tax advice.

Consider the investment objectives, risks, charges and ongoing expenses of the UIT carefully before investing. The prospectus contains this and other information about the UIT. Please read the prospectus carefully before investing.
