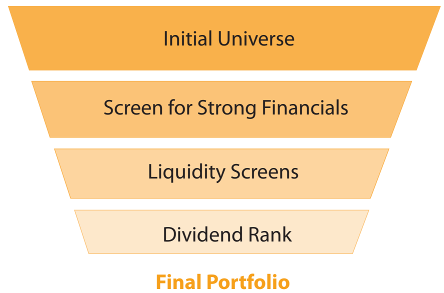
Security Selection



In constructing the Trust's portfolio, approximately 50 securities will be selected based on the following rules-based criteria:

1. Initial Universe: Start with an initial global universe of securities which meet certain requirements including companies must be engaged in the following FactSet global industries/sectors (note the strategy "sleeve" names, which are used to specify target weights in the selection strategy):

Sleeve Category	Sectors/Industries Included
Agriculture	Agricultural Chemicals, and Forest Products
Energy	Oil & Gas Production, Integrated Oil, and Coal
Mining	Aluminum, and Other Metals/Minerals
Precious Metals	Precious Metals, Gold

2. Rank on Fundamentals: Rank every company identified in the initial universe against other companies in the same industry sleeve along certain financial metrics.
3. Define Sub-Universe: Reduce the initial universe of securities to a sub-universe that meet certain liquidity screens.

Selections must adhere to certain portfolio limits.

RISK CONSIDERATIONS As with all investments, you may lose some or all of your investment in the Trust. No assurance can be given that the Trust's investment objective will be achieved. The Trust also might not perform as well as you expect. This can happen for reasons such as these: • Securities prices can be volatile. • Due to the current state of the economy, the value of the securities held by the trust may be subject to steep declines or increased volatility due to changes in performance or perception of the issuers. • Share prices or dividend rates on the securities in the Trust may decline during the life of the Trust. • The Trust includes securities of companies in the basic materials sector which include general risks such as the general state of the economy, consolidation, domestic and international politics and excess capacity as well as volatility of commodity prices, import controls, worldwide competition, liability for environmental damage, depletion of resources and mandated expenditures for safety and pollution control devices. • The Trust includes securities issued by companies in the energy sector which are subject to volatile fluctuations in price and supply of energy fuels, and can be impacted by international politics and conflicts, including the unrest in Iraq and hostilities in the Middle East, terrorist attacks, the success of exploration projects, reduced demand as a result of increases in energy efficiency and energy conservation, natural disasters, clean-up and litigation costs associated with environmental damage and extensive regulation. • The Trust includes securities issued by companies involved with the production of certain commodities. General risks of commodity companies include price and supply fluctuations, excess capacity, economic recession, government regulations and overall capital spending rates. Exposure to commodities markets may subject the Trust to greater volatility than other investments. Certain commodities may be produced in a limited number of countries and may be controlled by a small number of producers. • The Trust invests in securities of companies in the agribusiness industry which are subject to numerous risks, including cyclicality of revenues and earnings, economic recession, currency fluctuations, changing consumer tastes, extensive competition, weather conditions, quotas, product liability litigation and governmental regulation and subsidies. Generally, the agribusiness industry is affected by the economic health of consumers. A weak economy and its effect on consumer spending would adversely affect agribusiness companies. • The Trust includes securities issued by companies involved in the precious metals business which are subject to risks associated with the exploration, development and production of precious metals including competition for land and difficulties in obtaining required governmental approval to mine land. In addition, the price of gold and other precious metals is subject to wide fluctuations and may be influenced by limited markets, expected inflation, central bank demand and availability of substitutes. • The Trust includes securities issued by companies involved in the metals and mining business which are subject to risks including inaccurate estimates of mineral reserves and future production levels, varying expectations of mine production costs, technological and operational hazards in mining and mine development activities and mandated expenditures for

RISK CONSIDERATIONS (CONTINUED) safety and pollution control devices. • The Trust invests in ADRs, U.S.-listed foreign securities and foreign securities listed on a foreign exchange which present additional risk due to such factors as adverse economic, currency, political, social or regulatory developments in a country, including government seizure of assets, excessive taxation, limitations on the use or transfer of assets, the lack of liquidity or regulatory controls with respect to certain industries or differing legal and/or accounting standards. • Because some of the securities in the Trust are issued by companies headquartered, or with a significant presence, in Canada, the Trust is subject to Canadian country risk. The Canadian economy is dependent on the demand for, and supply and price of, natural resources, and the Canadian market is relatively concentrated in issuers involved in the production and distribution of natural resources. A small number of sectors, including the materials sector, represent a large portion of the Canadian market. • The Trust includes securities issued by companies headquartered or incorporated in countries considered to be emerging markets which are substantially smaller, less liquid, and may be exposed to greater volatility and market risks than the U.S. and developed foreign markets. • The Trust includes securities whose value may be dependent on currency exchange rates. The U.S. dollar value of these securities may vary with fluctuations in foreign exchange rates. Most foreign currencies have fluctuated widely in value against the U.S. dollar for various economic and political reasons such as the activity level of large international commercial banks, various central banks, speculators, hedge funds and other buyers and sellers of foreign currencies. • The Trust invests in securities issued by small-capitalization and mid-capitalization companies which customarily involve more investment risk than securities of larger capitalization companies. Small-capitalization and mid-capitalization companies may have limited product lines, markets or financial resources and may be more vulnerable to adverse general market or economic developments. • Inflation may lead to a decrease in the value of assets or income from investments. • The Sponsor does not actively manage the portfolio. Please see the Trust prospectus for more complete risk information.

Unit Investment Trusts ("UITs") are fixed and not actively managed. An investment in this fixed portfolio should be made with an understanding of the risks involved with owning various types of investments. Industry predictions may not materialize and securities selected for the Trust may not participate in overall industry growth, if any. Units, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original purchase price.

This UIT is part of a long-term strategy. Consult an attorney or tax advisor regarding tax consequences associated with an investment from one series to the next, if available. Investors should consult their tax advisor to determine tax consequences associated with the purchase or sale of units. Guggenheim Funds Distributors, Inc. does not offer tax advice.

Consider the investment objectives, risks, charges and ongoing expenses of the UIT carefully before investing. The prospectus contains this and other information about the UIT. Please read the prospectus carefully before investing.
